The Parker Jewish Institute Golf Outing is set for August 1

New Hyde Park, New York, July 18, 2022 – The Parker Jewish Institute will host its 2022 Peter Seideman Golf Classic at the Glen Oaks Club on Monday, August 1. This year’s Golf Classic begins registration and breakfast at 10 a.m., followed by shotgun start at 11:30 a.m., and cocktails and dinner at 4:30 p.m.

The Golf Classic has been renamed in loving memory of Peter Seideman, a longtime and ardent supporter of Parker and of the golf outing’s success. At this year’s Golf Classic, Parker is proud to honor Mark G. Nicholis, President, Nicor Construction for his years of service to Parker and to the Parker community at-large.

As always, the event and its proceeds will benefit The Parker Jewish Institute Foundation to enhance the network of programs and services for patients and residents, as well as the 8,000 people who access Parker’s continuum of services each year.

Parker’s golf outing is one of two major annual fundraisers, including a gala. This year, the Golf Classic follows Parker’s second annual Drive-In Gala, which was held in June. The Drive-In Gala honored Parker’s Health Care Heroes, who remain instrumental in providing vital services, with compassion and dedication, to older adults in the community. WCBS 880’s Marla Diamond served as the evening’s Master of Ceremonies. The New York Board of Rabbis Executive Vice President Rabbi Joseph Potasnik offered a traditional blessing and a message of hope. Proceeds from the event supported the mission of enhancing Parker’s extensive programs and services.

Amid the lingering pandemic, Parker is continuing with its robust COVID-19 response, reinforcing emergency pandemic preparedness as well as infection-control protocols. To help protect the region, Parker maintains an outdoor clinic for COVID-19 vaccines and testing for community members. And Parker’s Family Call Center helps families stay connected, including through the scheduling and providing of in-person and virtual visits.

“We are so grateful to all of our donors, sponsors, families and team members who are all integral to the Parker community,” said Michael N. Rosenblut, The Parker Jewish Institute’s President and CEO. “Thanks to our generous supporters, Parker will continue leading the way in patient care, research, excellence and innovation.”
