The inclusion of Mary Manning Walsh on Newsweek’s list for the third consecutive year is a testament to its exceptional performance across these critical dimensions.

U.S. News & World Report's “Best Nursing Homes 2024” ratings, a gold standard in healthcare recognition, involve a detailed analysis of short-term rehabilitation and long-term care provided by skilled nursing facilities. Mary Manning Walsh, earning a 'High Performance' rating for both short-term rehabilitation and long-term care, stands among the elite 3% of over 15,000 evaluated skilled nursing facilities. Newsweek's “Best Nursing Homes 2024” ranking lists the nation’s leading nursing homes in the 25 states with the highest number of facilities according to the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS). The rankings are a result of a comprehensive evaluation based on five data sources. These include nursing home performance, accreditations from the Joint Commission and Commission on Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities, resident satisfaction data, medical professionals' surveys, and the facility's response and protocols during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Mr. Michael Monahan, Executive Director of Mary Manning Walsh, expressed the facility's dedication, stating, “Each employee plays a part in these awards and without all disciplines working together, it would be impossible to realize such success. I am very proud of this achievement because it reflects the quality care and attention to detail that is demonstrated by our staff every day.”
