Local Artist's Collection Displayed at Friendly Home Through December

Brighton, N.Y. — The artwork of Rochester artist Rory Schallhorn is on display through December 31 in Friendly Home's Memorial Gallery at 3156 East Ave. in Brighton. Admission is free and open to the Greater Rochester community. The collection features watercolor, acrylics and collages created by the local artist. His work has been featured at the Rochester Clothesline Art Festival at the Memorial Art Gallery for several years.

"My goal is for the viewer to always see something new every time the painting is looked at," said Schallhorn. "Perhaps surprises appear each time one looks at the piece, or they wonder of how the painting became an abstract creation. It's an honor for my work to be displayed at the Friendly Home this season."

Schallhorn is a member of the Pittsford Art Group and served as past president for four years. He's also a member of the International Society of Experimental Artists and currently serves the Western New York representative. He started his passion for art after retiring as an elementary school teacher.
