

Press Release

For more information contact:

Nascentia Health

Courtney Armbruster

Marketing Director

(315) 477-9390

carmbruster@477home.org

Nascentia Health Raises $100k for Charitable Foundation, Recognizes Ryan McMahon, Adam and Clover Weitsman with Service Awards

Syracuse, NY, 10-6-21 – On Sunday, October 3, Nascentia Health celebrated their annual Raise A Glass event, which raises funds for the organization’s charitable entity, the Nascentia Health Charitable Foundation. Held at Lakeshore Yacht & Country Club, the event drew over 200 people and raised more than $100,000 for the foundation. The Nascentia Health Charitable Foundation is focused on improving the lives of the organization’s home-care patients through grants of life-changing health-related items to those who are uninsured or under-insured. Recent donations include a generator for a rural patient so frequent power outages don’t affect his oxygen machine, equipment to allow a mother to safely get her disabled child in and out of the bath, and new beds and mattresses for patients who were sleeping on the floor or dilapidated/unsafe beds. More about the foundation can be found at nascentiahealth.org/foundations.

Nascentia Health CEO Kate Rolf presented awards to three local individuals who have significantly contributed to the well-being of the community. County Executive Ryan McMahon received the Civic Engagement Excellence Award, which is given to recognize a person or group that excels in addressing public concern and making a difference in the lives of those in the community. McMahon was chosen for his leadership and commitment to making Onondaga County a safe and thriving place to live and work. Adam and Clover Weitsman received the Community Champion Award, which is presented in honor of persons or organizations who have made an outstanding contribution to the community. They were selected for their significant philanthropy efforts through their CNY Tuesdays give-back campaign, in addition to the many other charitable donations they have provided in support of local organizations.

Nascentia Health is a non-profit healthcare provider founded in Syracuse in 1890. The organization has continuously served the area with in-home healthcare services ranging from skilled nursing and therapies to home health aides, and also offers a managed long-term care plan and two Medicare Advantage Plans across Upstate New York state. Learn more at nascentiahealth.org.

County Executive Ryan McMahon, Civic Engagement Excellence Award recipient

Adam and Clover Weitsman, Community Champion Award recipients