

How Does New York Compare?

New York is one of the only states that actually cut nursing home Medicaid rates in 2020, during the COVID-19 Pandemic.

State Nursing Home Funding Actions Since 2019:

How is NY Nursing Home Care Paid For?

- Nearly 75% of nursing home care is paid for by Medicaid.
- NY nursing home Medicaid rates are currently based on 2007 costs. Since then, costs have risen by 42%.
- Based on recent analysis, the average NY nursing home
- loses $74 per Medicaid resident, per day. A shortfall that is currently the worst in the country.
- 60,000 NY nursing home residents depend on Medicaid.

PENNSYLVANIA	Increased Medicaid rates by 17.5%
NEW JERSEY	Increased Medicaid rates by 10%
WISCONSIN	Increased Medicaid rates by 12%
NEBRASKA	Increased Medicaid rates by 15%
NEW YORK	Cut Medicaid rates in 2020, then later increased by 1%

The 2023-24 State Budget Must Provide a
20% Increase to Nursing Home Medicaid Rates.

We have endured 15 years of underfunding, and now, older adults are paying the price.
