Parker Jewish Institute now offers vascular outpatient services

New Hyde Park, New York, March 18, 2021 – To enhance access to quality health care in the New York metropolitan region, Parker Jewish Institute for Health Care & Rehabilitation now offers vascular outpatient services.

In a partnership with PRINE Health & Palm Vascular Centers, Parker offers vascular outpatient services in a new state-of-the-art 1,900-square-foot facility located on the first floor of the Institute at 172-11 76th Avenue in New Hyde Park. The Vascular Center offers the most advanced services in peripheral arterial disease treatment, varicose and spider vein treatment, dialysis access management, kyphoplasty, uterine fibroid embolization and comprehensive vascular evaluation.

Dr. Dan Simon, a nationally renowned Vascular Specialist, is leading PRINE Vascular Center as its Medical Director. With extensive experience in both the outpatient and hospital settings, Dr. Simon brings a wealth of knowledge and expertise in treating complex vascular cases involving Peripheral Arterial Disease and Critical Limb Ischemia. During his tenure at North Shore University Hospital, Dr. Simon served as Co-Chief of Interventional Radiology and helped pioneer many trials and cutting-edge techniques.

“With the new Vascular Center at Parker Jewish Institute, we continue to expand access to specialty health care for the New York region,” said Michael N. Rosenblut, Parker’s President and CEO. “Dr. Dan Simon is a leader in vascular health, and shares Parker’s mission in providing, with compassion and dedication, superior quality health care and rehabilitation for adults.”

In addition to the Vascular Center, Parker is also home to the Queens-Long Island Renal Institute, providing patients with safe, comfortable hemodialysis treatments in a relaxing setting, meeting the individual needs of patients and families.
