(Endwell, NY)

Good Shepherd Village at Endwell, the region's most comprehensive senior care facility will hold a Press Conference on Wednesday, March 8th from 3:00-5:00 p.m. to announce a massive $15 million renovation project. The project will include expansion and additions to existing on-site amenities, as well as improvements to nearly every part of the complex. With financing from the Broome County Local Development Corporation, Good Shepherd Village will add and enhance outdoor spaces, expand the community dining room and pub areas, increase therapy space and services, add a new corporate office wing, upgrade apartments and many other improvements.

The project will be overseen by William H. Lane Construction as the General Contractor, and SFCS, an architect that specializes in senior living and design. Good Shepherd Communities President/CEO Michael Keenan says "I want to thank the Broome County LDC for their support in issuing bonds to complete this renovation. We are fortunate to have William H. Lane as our construction manager, and our goal is to utilize as many local construction firms as possible. This project will ensure we continue to meet the needs of seniors in our region now and in the coming years."

Local elected officials and representatives and some of the contractors will be on hand for the announcement to describe the project in detail.
