

Temporary Staffing Solution

As the coronavirus continues to spread, the business landscape is quickly changing and we are faced with a new reality. While there are labor shortages in senior living and hospitals, the hospitality industry is facing mass layoffs. In response to this crisis, Unidine has adapted our service model in response to the needs of senior living organizations.

Unidine & Coreworks, our sister company in environmental services, have created a temporary staffing solution to alleviate the pressure of workforce shortages, while keeping our team members working to support senior living communities.

We are offering this solution to all members:

Short-term placements

Professionally trained team members, readily available (dining and housekeeping)

All-inclusive rate, with benefits

Proper insurances and background checks

Dedicated support team

Nimble mobilization, targeted within 72 hours
