ARCHCARE AT SAN VICENTE DE PAÚL
SCORES IN HIGHEST QUINTILE FOR QUALITY FOR SECOND CONSECUTIVE YEAR

BRONX, NY, March 6, 2018 – ArchCare at San Vicente de Paúl Skilled Nursing and Rehabilitation Center has been ranked in the highest quintile for quality by the New York State Department of Health as part of the agency’s 2017 Nursing Home Quality Initiative (NHQI). This is the second consecutive year in which the South Bronx nursing home has scored in the top quintile for quality, and the fourth year since 2013.

ArchCare at San Vicente de Paúl is a member of ArchCare, the healthcare system of the Archdiocese of New York.

The NHQI is an annual quality and performance evaluation initiative designed to improve care for residents in Medicaid-certified nursing facilities across New York. Points are awarded for a broad array of quality and performance measures, combined into an overall score for each entity and then compared against other facilities across the state.

“Scoring in the top quintile is a remarkable accomplishment and testimony to the outstanding leadership at San Vicente de Paúl and the hard work and dedication to excellence of ArchCare staff at every level as they carry out our mission,” said ArchCare President and CEO Scott LaRue.

At the federal level, ArchCare at San Vicente de Paúl also has a five-star rating for quality, the highest attainable, from the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services, the U.S. government agency that oversees Medicare. In addition to skilled nursing care and rehabilitation, the Longwood center offers assisted living and is home to ArchCare Senior Life’s Bronx PACE program, which provides a complete range of medical, social and other services focused on keeping seniors healthy, safe and out of nursing homes for as long as possible.
